LIV vs PGATOUR? who cares?!

June 22, 2022

LIV, the new pro golf tour has begun operations and is threatening the monopoly held for decades by the PGATOUR. Why should the aspiring pro tour golfer care how the battle of titans finishes? Either way, the players will continue to foolishly mortgage their futures to get onto any tour which could pay them millions of dollars. After all, spending hundreds of thousands to chase millions seems reasonable. Yes, but not when the odds are so greatly stacked against fair market competition.

So, let us level the playing field and smoothly graduate the costs and rewards structure in pro golf. Who would do that? Will the new LIV do that, a large ship being driven by iconic elitists? Or will the PGATOUR do that after its decades of turning a blind eye and a deaf ear to the Tour aspiring players?

Only the players would change pro golf. There is a way!
